

Today

Stocks Up, Dollar Down
Hitler Expurgates
Waves From Afar
Japan's Falling Wealth
By Arthur Brisbane

WHEN THE STOCK EXCHANGE opened yesterday morning stocks rose from one to four dollars a share, due partly to a cheaper dollar.

Many believe that the best thing to do with an inflated dollar is to invest it. There is also the more cheerful feeling that the cheaper dollar has promoted.

The British pound went up to four dollars, highest point in a long time. The dollar value of the pound depends on the world's opinion of our dollar. The pound goes down because the dollar goes down.

Chancellor Hitler of Germany has begun the important work of "expurgating" German libraries. Among many authors named in the list is the learned Prof. Franz Boas of the Columbia University, New York, declared "unclean" because he denies the "Nordic" or "Aryan" claims of racial superiority.

Unless Mongols and Tartars are "Nordic," which they are not, the word "Nordic" does not apply to all Germany by any means.

Marauders from Asia, including the great invaders Attila, Jenghis Khan and Timur, left behind them their race and fighting blood on the eastern borders of Europe. Mr. Hitler does not overlook that or the fact that the "pure breed" among human beings is rare.

Germany expects the Olympic games in 1936, and suggests that the drama be added to other sports in which all nations would compete.

Hollywood competing with the Theater Francaise, the German theater competing with that of Japan, would be interesting, but it probably will not happen.

In any case you will not hear the magic formula, "Was you dere, Sharlie?" Hitler would not allow "Sharlie" or his partner to come.

Strange new radio waves, to get away from Europe, are coming to us from the very center of the Milky Way. They are "galactic" radio waves, different from cosmic rays that come from all directions in space.

Somewhere, somewhere, in the middle of the Milky Way, many thousands of miles from here, may be trying to send us signals.

Japan's cabinet started business today that Japan would have diminished. It amounts now to 27 and a half billion dollars, or 110,000,000,000 yen.

Our national income was once three times that amount.

Interesting is the statement that Japan's government owns 12 per cent of all the country's wealth, including land, railroads, bridges, homes, factories.

The Japanese government plans to give a monopoly of its business to one Japanese company, Standard Oil of New York, and one British company.

Another shock for the League of Nations. First we did not go to it. Then, after the League was formed, we went in. Now, we think of this: The League that has been keeping all its money in American dollars, supposed to be the "safest money," one million because of the dollar drop. Those Americans! It is hard to be patient with them.

WEATHER

Mostly cloudy, probably showers tonight and Sunday morning; east wind, shifting to west. High tides: 8:51 a. m.; 9:16 p. m.

Non rises: 5:33; sets, 7:19.

The Advertiser is the only Boston daily paper recognized Universal Service and International News Service dispatches plus Associated Press.

Balances and Receipts
Today's Treasury balance, $357,330,882. U. S. Customs receipts, $2,182,518.

Demar, a. f.	6	0	1	2	0
W. Herman, 2b.	5	0	2	7	4
F. Herman, rf.	4	1	0	1	0
Stephenson, lf.	6	1	2	2	0
English, 3b.	6	0	3	1	2
Grimm, 1b.	6	0	13	3	0
Jurges, ss.	4	1	2	6	7
Harnett, c.	4	2	3	1	0
Malone, p.	2	0	0	0	0
Bush, p.	0	0	0	0	0
Nelson, p.	1	0	0	1	0
Naylor, c.	2	0	2	1	0
Campbell, c.	1	1	0	0	0
Hendrick, lf.	1	0	0	0	0
Clifford, lf.	0	0	0	0	0
Totals.	48	6	34	36	20

BRAVES AND CUBS RUN INTO TIE

12-INNING BOX SCORE
BRAVES						CUBS
	ab	r	h	po	a		ab	r	h	po	a
Demaree, c. f.	5	0	1	2	0	Marshall, 3b.	4	0	1	3	1
W. Herman, 2b.	5	0	2	7	4	Jordan, 1b.	3	2	1	1	0
F. Herman, rf.	4	1	0	1	0	Morse, lf.	5	0	2	3	0
Stephenson, lf.	6	1	2	2	0	Berger, cf.	5	1	2	3	0
English, 3b.	6	0	3	1	2	Hogan, c.	6	0	0	3	1
Grimm, 1b.	6	0	13	3	0	Knott, 3b.	5	0	1	2	0
Jurges, ss.	4	1	2	6	7	Schulmeister, rf.	4	1	2	2	0
Harnett, c.	4	2	3	1	0	Ford, ss.	3	0	0	5	6
Malone, p.	2	0	0	0	0	Fallenstein, p.	2	1	2	0	0
Bush, p.	0	0	0	0	0	Frankhouse, p.	2	1	0	1	0
Nelson, p.	1	0	0	1	0
Taylor, c.	2	0	2	1	0	Totals.	39	6	11	36	18
Campbell, c.	1	1	1	0	0	Cubs—
Hendrick, lf.	1	0	0	0	0		0	0	2	1	0
Clifford, lf.	0	0	0	0	0	Braves—
Dunthill	0	0	0	0	0		0	2	1	0	0
Totals.	48	6	34	36	20		0	2	1	0	0

Two-base hit—Knott. Harnett home run—Harnett. Base on balls, off Malone 5, Bush 5, Miller 1, Falenstein 5, Frankhouse 1. Struck out—By Falenstein 1, Franklin 1, Schulmeister 1, Marshall 1, Knott 1, Harnett 1. (b) batted for Bush in 8th. (c) ran for Harnett in 8th.

Late News Flashes—Baseball

All other National League games called. Rain.

Three Races at Pimlico Paid $110.50.

LA BONTI WINS RACE
Roger La Bonti, of the Methuen A. C., won the first annual Irish-American A. C. 10-mile road race at South Boston today. His time was 57 minutes, two seconds.

HARVARD TRACKMEN WIN
Harvard's varsity track team defeated Princeton, 79 1-3—55 2-3 in the first dual meet between the two colleges since the 1926 break, at the Stadium today.

$6,099,900 IN GOLD SHIPPED TO NORWAY
New York, May 6 (AP)—A shipment of $6,099,900 in gold to Norway, out of the stock held under earmark for foreign account, was announced by the New York Federal Reserve Bank today. There were no other transactions in the metal.

EX-GOV. BREWSTER TO RUN FOR CONGRESS
Washington, May 6 (AP)—Former Gov. Ralph O. Brewster of Dexter, Me., served formal notice today of his intention to contest the seat in Congress now held by John G. Utterback, Democrat, of Bangor.

PSUEDO-CLERGYMAN FACES MURDER CHARGE
Philadelphia, May 6 (AP)—James Gavanag, pseudo-clergyman, was taken over to New York authorities today to be turned over to Nassau county, L. I., on a charge of suspicion of murder in connection with the death of Mary Helen O'Connor. Gavanag waived examination.

FALLENSTEIN ON KIDNAPER'S MOTHER HILL FOR TRIBE HURT IN BLAST

Braver Field, May 6—Ed Fallenstein, rookie high-jumper who blanked the Giants in his first major league start last Sunday, went to the hill for the Braves against the Cubs in the second game of the series, here this afternoon. Paul Malone was the victor's mound choice.

It was Ladies' Day but the ladies as well as the men were in the stands. It was that cold.

Urbanski was out of the lineup on account of a finger injury sustained in the eighth inning of yesterday's game.

Ford was in Urbanski's place.

Cubs—Demaree filed to Schulmeister. Marshall threw out W. Herman. F. Herman lined to Marshall. No runs.

Braves—Demaree grounded out.

CURLEY PLANS TO CUP DOWN CITY LIGHTS

Will Dim Every Second Arc to Help Reduce Expenses

Every second arc light in the city will be put out for six months beginning June 1, as part of Mayor Curley's latest economy program by which he expects to save $500,000.

The Mayor discussed his program with department heads today, all of whom, with the exception of Police Comm. Hultman, either attended to persons or had a representative.

Hultman's absence, he said, he was busy—may lead to a few controversy between him and the mayor. Their most recent break came when Mayor Curley eliminated an item of $200,000 from the police budget which was to have been used for purchasing 40 new police cars.

The biggest saving, $425,000, is to be made by economy in departmental expenses. This, the department co-operate to effect this saving by Dec. 30, the Mayor said, all employees would have to take a week's vacation without pay.

The doubling of half the city's $2000 are lights will save $175,000. Other savings were estimated at follows: $50,000 on the installation of granolithic sidewalks; $25,000 on repairs of public buildings; $50,000 which will not be set aside for a reserve fund to take care of suits resulting from the city's accidents; $25,000 on fuel for public buildings; $25,000 on stationery and supplies; and $40,000 which otherwise would have been spent on new fire apparatus.

Mayor Curley said he would have saved as much by forcing employees to take two weeks' vacation without pay, but felt this would be unwise.

Roosevelt's River Trip Halted by Rain

Washington, May 6.—Drizzling rain prompted President Roosevelt to abandon his plan of an overnight trip down the Potomac.

The rearranged plan calls for Mr. Roosevelt to board the Sequoia early tomorrow and go down the river.

O'Malley's Wife Is Seriously Ill

Mrs. Charles J. O'Malley, wife of Charles J. O'Malley of Beacon st., Chestnut Hill, veteran advertising manager and journalist and recently appointed minister to Ireland, is suffering from a serious condition in New England hospital, Stoneham, today.

Mahatma Gandhi to Be Freed Tuesday

Simla, India, May 6 (AP)—It is understood in well-informed circles that the release of Mahatma Gandhi from his present confinement is being decided upon by the authorities. This decision, it is said, came as the result of an exchange of cables between the government of India and London.

Kidnap 'Tipster' Gets 30 Days

Columbus, O., May 6 (AP)—James A. Griffin, 38, Clinton, Ohio, who arrested following a telephone call to Harwichport, Mass., that he knew the hiding place of the abductee of Margaret McMath, was sentenced to 30 days in jail today.

Griffin was charged with acting under false pretenses.

Dickinson, Harvard Grad, Dies in West

Alexander Dickinson, former Boston and Cambridge attorney and Harvard graduate, is dead in Seattle, Wash., where he made his home. Despatches announced today. He was a brother-in-law of David C. Dickinson, one time mayor of Cambridge.

'Spokesman' in Tears

William V. Lee, who was Neil C. McMath's "official spokesman" in communications to the press after the kidnaping of McMath's daughter, "Peggy," is shown with the father leaving the mess hall of the coast guard at Woods Hole, where they had breakfast early today. Previously on the way to the mess hall Lee dashed away from a guard and was brought to a stop by stern command. In the mess hall Lee collapsed, sobbing like a child and talking incoherently. McMath, is shown at right waving hand to cameraman. (Boston American Photo.)

It Wasn't Bologna to S. Boston Grocer

Two men entered the grocery of Matthew Zenakis, on K st., South Boston, today and ordered a pound of bologna. Matthew remembers he asked them if they wanted it sliced and the next thing he remembers is picking himself off the floor.

While his back was turned, one of the men hit him on the head with a club. When he recovered consciousness, $12 was gone from his till. So were the two men.

Slayer of Girl, 3, Gets 50-Year Term

London, Tex., May 6 (AP)—Paul Oakley, self-styled "divine healer," was convicted today of murder in the slaying of Bernice Clayton, 3-year-old cripple, and sentenced to 50 years imprisonment.

Long Beach Shaken Again

Long Beach, Calif., May 6 (AP)—Three earthquake shocks were felt here yesterday. The last tremor caused windows to rattle and buildings to shake perceptibly, but so damage was done.

ALL $60,000 RANSOM MONEY RECOVERED: FATHER ABSOLVED

BULLETIN
The entire $60,000 ransom of Peggy McMath was turned over to the state police late this afternoon by Kenneth Buck. It was in his home in Harwich, $46,000 in a tea can, $4000 hidden in a couch and the other $10,000 in another part of the house.

Cyril Buck, the man who returned kidnapped Margaret "Peggy" McMath to her parents yesterday, and his brother, Kenneth, were arrested this afternoon as participants with two other unidentified men in the abduction of the child and the extortion of approximately $60,000 ransom.

Arrests of the other two are expected soon, as the climax to the sensational extortion plot.

General Needham said Kenneth Buck had made a complete confession but that his brother Cyril had denied wrongdoing. Needham said Cyril told of his part in the return of the child but maintained that it was an innocent part.

Kenneth is about 30 years old, married, and the father of one child, a boy.

Cyril is about 38 years old, married, and has no children.

Needham exonerated all members of the McMath family from suspicion.

Both Buck brothers were taken to the Barnstable jail.

General Needham at first said he had a "confession" from both men but later modified this in respect to Cyril's statements.

The brothers were arrested a short time after Cyril had been brought back to Harwichport from Woods Hole where, with Neil C. McMath, father of the stolen child and William Lee, business associate of McMath and spokesman for the parents, had undergone an all-night grilling by police.

General Needham, quoted Cyril as saying:

"I brought the child back myself. McMath will verify that. I did a big job and I suppose I'll have to pay for it."

Cyril, he said, claimed that he knew nothing of the affair until Wednesday night, when it is understood, he acted as contact man between the kidnappers and the girl's parents.

Needham announced that Kenneth was the man in the car who wore the black hood when the McMath girl was restored to her father. The car was identified by the returned child and Kenneth as the hooded man who rode in the car when she was stolen.

Kenneth and Cyril had been questioned for some time at the home of Buck's mother, directly across the street from Cyril's home before the arrests were announced.

Ernest Bradford, state detective, explained many details of the case late today.

"The man who got the $70,000 will give me $10,000 if I let him go alone," he said. "I don't intend to do that. The money was paid in bills and not gold. There was $50,000 in $20 bills and $20,000 in $100 bills."

"One of the other men, the contact man, refused take his $10,000. That was Cyril. The transfer of the money occurred aboard the boat (Lee's boat). The masked man took the $70,000 to give to someone."

The man in the mask was Kenneth. The masked man said he was going to give $50,000 to someone, was going to keep $10,000 for himself and was going to give $10,000 to the contact man.

Needham returned the $10,000 in McMath. He could well afford to when his brother had $50,000.

Bradford said he did not know where the child had been kept in hiding.

Soon after the Buck brothers were taken to jail Needham said he believed they alone were involved in the kidnaping. "We believe this is the cleanest," he said, "that no outside gang is involved. However, that possibility still remains."

A Shaking, crying and distracted "go-between" in one of the nation's weirdest kidnappings, William V. Lee; a father whose 10-year-old child has just been restored to him, after a ransom payment of $60,000, Neil C. McMath, and two other men were returned to Harwich at 11.30 a. m. today, after undergoing a merciless and long-continued "third degree" grilling by State police since 6 o'clock last night, at Wood's Hole.

The grilling took place in the coast guard base at Woods Hole, where the rescued child was brought last night after being taken from Lee's boat, "Bob."

Undergoing this nerve-wracking grilling by police and state officials, in addition to McMath, were the two other men.

ENTIRE NATION RELIEVED AS PEGGY M'MATH COMES HOME

AFTER NIGHT IN OWN BED—PEGGY IS AT PLAY TODAY

ON TO WOODS HOLE—SOON THE JOYOUS NEWS WAS MADE KNOWN

The country was waiting for news of the actual return of little "Peggy" McMath, to her mother and father, as these U. S. Coast Guard boats went slowly through the winding channel toward Woods Hole, yesterday afternoon. The Boston Evening American had promised the return of the baby in 24 hours. This story was sent through the land. The Coast Guard people had taken the kidnaped child from the "Bob," a small boat, owned by Lee, and was on its way to Woods Hole as this photograph was made at Woods Hole Lee collapsed after eating breakfast. (International News Photos.)

PHOTOS BY EVENING AMERICAN STAFF PHOTOGRAPHERS

Little "Peggy" McMath, was at home, last night. She slept in her own comfortable bed. You see Peggy as she was snapped at Woods Hole, last night. Just as soon as she had breakfast, this morning, the kidnaped girl was at play with her younger brother, Francis. A watchful mother was close at hand.

VOLUNTEER WITNESS AT INQUIRY

You see George Bacon, vice-president of the Merchants National Bank of Boston, as he departed from the inquiry at Woods Hole, where he was a volunteer witness. As treasurer of the Cape Cod Trust Co. he may have furnished important facts. He was at scene most of night—leaving at 5:30 this morning.

LEE, SPOKESMAN, COLLAPSES

Arthur Quinn, at right, reporter of the Boston American, who had much to do with the Boston American scoop registered during the last few days on the McMath kidnaping story, chats with William Lee, the McMath spokesman, coast guard mess hall, at Woods Hole, today, Lee collapsed after an all-night grilling.

BRIG. GEN. DANIEL NEEDHAM

CAPT. JAMES P. MAHONEY

BUSY MEN—YOU BET
Five days these two leaders in state police activities have slept but little as they studied clue after clue. Needham is state commissioner of public safety. Mahoney is executive officer.

WHEN "PEGGY" MCMATH WAS PASSED ASHORE

It was just a few minutes before this picture was taken at Woods Hole, that the finding of little Margaret McMath was announced. Here you see sailors of the U. S. coast guard passing their precious "cargo" from the coast guard boat to other sailors on shore. This interesting picture was made at the coast guard base.

"PEGGY" HOME—MOTHER IS HAPPY—"DAD" QUESTIONED

Much has happened since the Boston American cameraman made this study of a kidnaped girl—Mary Gray McMath—her mother—her dad—at Woods Hole, late last evening. There had just been a grand reunion between mother and daughter. Then at 11:52 last night, the automobile of State Commissioner of Safety arrived at the Harwichport home of the McMaths, from where "Peggy" departed for school at 8:30.

Tuesday morning, Mrs. McMath with her daughter entered the home, guarded by police, State Detective Albert Brouillard drove the car. There was seated with him Lieut. James T. Hughes, of the state police. In a few minutes a light was switched on in the bedroom of Margaret. Neil C. McMath, the father, and William Lee, were aboard a boat at Woods Hole where they were being questioned.

PEGGY'S CASES ADDED TO THE MYSTERY OF HER PARENTS

CHARGED, BUT WAS CONFIDENT IN THE FUTURE

By JAMES J. SMITH
(Copyright, 1935, Boston Evening American)

Harwichport, May 6.—At least four arrests will be made within 24 hours as a result of the kidnaping of Peggy McMath.

Yesterday the Boston Evening American forecast the return of Peggy McMath to her home within 24 hours. She was returned, 10 hours after that story was published.

NO GANGSTERS INVOLVED
Persons familiar with every detail of the house and school life of little Peggy plotted her abduction in the hope of obtaining huge ransom from her wealthy Detroit father.

Yesterday the Evening American published the exclusive story that the kidnaping was an inside job. In the criminal seminar, the expression "inside job" means that it was performed by a person or persons connected with the victim.

The Evening American suspects that the kidnaping of Peggy was the result of a plot instigated and executed in her very home for weeks in the dead of night, while Peggy slumbered and dreamed of little 10-year-old girls.

There were no gangsters involved in the kidnaping of Peggy McMath. The job was hatched and perfected by men of the town whom she summoned when times were good and wintered here for long periods.

Men who gathered about a small place in the winter just passed and plotted for easy money—such as might come from the ransom—were the chief actors in the plot.

RICHARDSON, BARED
As revealed in the Evening American, the kidnaping of Peggy McMath was the result of a plot instigated and executed in her very home for weeks in the dead of night, while Peggy slumbered and dreamed of little 10-year-old girls.

Each had his part to play. They went about their acting with all the informality of Harwich village, even for a stroll on the beach and along the main street of the town.

One of the four, a slither and sinister man, was the one who played the part of the black face—the "colored" chauffeur of McMath.

His was the most exciting role. He was to make the telephone call from the booth at the South Chatham post-office to the little girl.

GOVERNMENT
Herbert Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

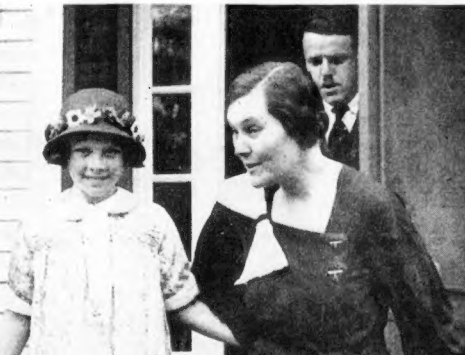

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

PEGGY IN THE SUNLIGHT ONCE MORE

Peggy McMath, happy again to be home after her terrifying experience, steps out of her home with her overjoyed mother at their side.

house in Harwich asking that Peggy be returned from school.

He, the best actor of the kidnaping scene, then walked in the shore of Forest beach in Chatham, signaled to one of his confederates standing on Horse Grass beach on the opposite Harwich shore.

The stage was set for last Tuesday afternoon. The cast in the order of their importance was: first, the "colored" chauffeur; second, the shore guide at Horse Grass beach; third, the "contingent" of men who were to play the part of the kidnapers; fourth, the "front" man who was to answer all questions that arose after the job was done; and fifth, the "back" man.

CHAMBERS GIVES NOTICE
The curtain rose and the play was on at 2 p. m. in the sequestered, unobserved chauffer's room on the beach. The "colored" chauffeur, who was to play the part of the kidnapers, was the first to appear.

He was to make the telephone call from the booth at the South Chatham post-office to the little girl.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Mr. Pearson, receiver for the Federal National Bank, charged Arthur Fisher, who having failed in his duties as bank manager in the city of Boston, was sent to the Federal National Bank, to take over the duties of the bank.

Girl's Mother Thanks Press for Return

Restraint on the part of newspapers in treatment of the news of the kidnaping of Margaret "Peggy" McMath of Harwichport led to the safe return of the child.

Mrs. Neil McMath, Peggy's mother told a group of 60 reporters today. Standing on the porch of her home, while Peggy pressed out from behind a window curtain, Mrs. McMath said:

"I want to tell you that the world is a lot different for me now. I am a mother and a very happy one. We all went to expect that the kidnaping was a very serious matter and we were very glad when we were returned home and we appreciate the opportunity you gave us to say a little more."

"The whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

$50,000 PAID TO PARENTS, BOY, FREEMAN DECLARES

Woods Hole, May 6.—Payment of $50,000 ransom was indicated by Commissioner of Public Safety Daniel G. Needham in a statement after the return of Margaret "Peggy" McMath to her parents.

Needham issued the statement an hour after the child, with her father, arrived at the Coast Guard base here. They arrived on a coast guard patrol boat, which took them to the shore.

RANSOM CASH GUARDED
A state police officer, who escorted the money to the McMath home in Harwichport, from a Boston bank, estimated the amount as being about $50,000. This officer was Sgt. Thomas A. Delaney, who acted under orders from Capt. Thomas E. Bligh of the state police.

The guard was requested by George R. Bacon, an officer in the Merchants National Bank of Boston, which supplied the money. Sgt. Delaney reported in the bank Thursday afternoon, and told Capt. Bligh yesterday morning that the money had been delivered to the McMath home.

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

Movie Crew Land Prize Scoop

Two movie sound track attachments, accidentally stumbled in the prize "scoop" of the year, when they were able to film the entire transfer of Peggy McMath from the boat of William Lee to the Woods Hole coast guard cutter H. Wychemer harbor.

The men, for want of something better to do, drove the truck to within 50 yards of Lee's boat to take a general view of the landing were able to secure excellent pictures of the transferring of the child.

"This information was reported promptly to us at Harwichport. It was a very good thing that we went to the McMath's house, when they were able to film the entire transfer of Peggy McMath from the boat of William Lee to the Woods Hole coast guard cutter H. Wychemer harbor."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

"I am very glad to see that the whole family feels grateful to the newspapers and to the press for the restraint in handling the news of the kidnaping."

One Killed, 12 Hurt in Bus Crash

York, Pa., May 6 (AP).—A motor bus occupied by 15 passengers was wrecked today after miles east of York, Pa. It was reported that 12 are injured.

To avoid a collision with a truck coming from the opposite direction, the bus driver, a Mr. McGee, turned the bus around and drove it back to the scene of the crash.

The first of the passengers on the bus were killed when the vehicle rolled over on its side.

Pig Upsets Lamp: Two Die in Fire
Castle Rock, Col., May 6 (AP).—A fire which started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killed two people and injured several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

The fire started in a pig pen and spread to a nearby house, killing two people and injuring several others.

Kidnapers Threaten Children of 'Mike' McGuire, Ex-Champ

New York, May 6 (AP).—Mike McGuire, former lightweight boxing champion, has threatened to kidnap the children of his ex-wife, Mrs. McGuire.

The police were called in last Wednesday after Mrs. McGuire had received a letter from her ex-husband threatening to kidnap the children.

The police were called in last Wednesday after Mrs. McGuire had received a letter from her ex-husband threatening to kidnap the children.

The police were called in last Wednesday after Mrs. McGuire had received a letter from her ex-husband threatening to kidnap the children.

The police were called in last Wednesday after Mrs. McGuire had received a letter from her ex-husband threatening to kidnap the children.

The police were called in last Wednesday after Mrs. McGuire had received a letter from her ex-husband threatening to kidnap the children.

The police were called in last Wednesday after Mrs. McGuire had received a letter from her ex-husband threatening to kidnap the children.

The police were called in last Wednesday after Mrs. McGuire had received a letter from her ex-husband threatening to kidnap the children.

The police were called in last Wednesday after Mrs. McGuire had received a letter from her ex-husband threatening to kidnap the children.

The police were called in last Wednesday after Mrs. McGuire had received a letter from her ex-husband threatening to kidnap the children.

The police were called in last Wednesday after Mrs. McGuire had received a letter from her ex-husband threatening to kidnap the children.

The police were called in last Wednesday after Mrs. McGuire had received a letter from her ex-husband threatening to kidnap the children.

The police were called in last Wednesday after Mrs. McGuire had received a letter from her ex-husband threatening to kidnap the children.

The police were called in last Wednesday after Mrs. McGuire had received a letter from her ex-husband threatening to kidnap the children.

PEGGY McMATH TELLS STORY OF BEING HELD A PRISONER IN SHACK

By DOROTHY DUCAS
Harwich, May 6 (INS).—Peggy McMath came smiling out of the dark hole where she was held prisoner until her father paid $50,000 for her release.

She told the story of her captivity in a room in a shack on the beach in Harwich, where she was held for several days.

She told the story of her captivity in a room in a shack on the beach in Harwich, where she was held for several days.</

AT LAST THE COLLAPSE OF A KIDNAP GRILLING

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN'S CASE FROM REPORT

Continued from First Page.

and Lee, were Cyril Buck and Harold Sawyer, both of Harvard, and who were on the "Boh" when coast guard officers boarded the boat and took the child yesterday.

Lee in Terror

Dashes for Freedom

Lee, young business associate of McMath and special spokesman, collapsed and cried like a baby in the mesh while the four men were having breakfast under guard of state detectives. He attempted to break away from his escort, but was promptly halted. Lee, who had been representing the McMath family in the search for the child, appeared in a highly nervous condition. His eyes were red, his hair tousled and his face drawn and pale.

Upon arrival at Governor Needham's home, McMath and Lee to their homes. The detectives followed the men from Woods Hole in his own car, then drove with Harold Sawyer, to his home.

It was considered possible he had received information from the ransom money, or at least was willing to take steps toward recovery.

Gov. Ely called him by telephone from the Governor's home in Westfield and talked over the case with him. The Governor, reached by telephone by the Boston Evening American, was asked:

"Has there been a confession in this case?"

"Not to my knowledge," the Governor answered. "I have not heard of it. I know as much about this case as I do."

Two score newspapers had awaited Gen. Needham's arrival at the Governor's home in Westfield. At his advance announcement he would have something to say about the case, but they were disappointed when he told them he would have to wait a while.

Needham said the principals in the case were allowed to go home as they might have been, but he had to wait for the child.

At their homes, McMath, Lee and Sawyer shut themselves off from all visitors and declined to discuss their interrogation by the state police.

Hunt for Shack
Where Girl Was Held

In their grilling of the four men, the officials sought to learn whatever knowledge the men might possess as to the identity of the kidnappers who entered the little girl away from her school on Tuesday and returned her to her parents upon payment of approximately $50,000.

They sought also to determine the exact location of the remote shack in which she held by her abductors and the source of the ransom money that was paid.

Lee, who has represented McMath in various matters, had worked with little since the child's disappearance.

He was visibly worn by the ordeal and had been held by the men, together with Needham, Crowley and several state troopers, at the Coast Guard cutter, the Albatross, for several days. On their return, Lee, who had been held by the men, was released and returned to his home.

McMath raised the money which was paid for the child's return.

FOR JAIL IN RACKET TRIAL
New York, May 6.—Four poultry peddlers convicted in Brooklyn of racketeering were sentenced to terms of from six months to three years in the penitentiary. Three other defendants were freed.

The convicted men, Harry and Hyman Dard, brothers; Charles Goldberg, former heavyweight boxing champion under the name of Phil Rosenberg, and Jake E. B. They were identified by several witnesses as having taken part in the racketeering trial of April 5, the S. & B. Live Poultry Corp., after the firm had refused to rent crates from Joe Weiner, alleged by Dist. Atty. Foley to be the racket chief. He is missing.

Missing Fishermen
Are Believed Lost
North Sydney, N. E. May 6 (AP)—Beating from the coast today for the fate of Jack Smith and Jerry Moulton, unreported since they left their fishing vessel off the New England coast on Tuesday. A dense fog that shut down the search for the fishermen in a dory on the vessel and they were believed to be drifting somewhere off the coast.

Ely Gratified at Safety of Child

At his Westfield home today Gov. Ely expressed gratification that the child had been returned and in good health, he said.

He was transferred to him through the Merchants National Bank of Boston, paid it early yesterday morning and got the child back over afternoon, taking her to the cabin cruiser to remain under cover under terms of a pledge given the abductors.

Boston and Cape Bankers at Scene

George Bacon, vice-president of the Merchants National Bank of Boston, and Ralph H. Snow, treasurer of the Cape Cod Trust Co., who voluntarily went in Woods Hole to supply information to the state police, were seen today.

McMath, brother of Neil, left at 7 a. m. and was taken to his home in Westfield. It was learned he collapsed during the night from exhaustion.

The grilling had gone on for 12 hours when the police left the house. Neil McMath, Lee, Buck and Sawyer were seen at the receiving ship for breakfast.

Each man had a detective or member of the state constabulary with him. As they came down the stairs, they were met by a striking resemblance in Lindbergh to be seen. All four men were pale and wan.

Lee leaped away from the state policeman at his side and dashed through the side-fence which enclosed that part of the base. Twenty feet away he was halted by a cry from the officer.

Lee Hysterical and Incoherent in Talk
The men were taken through a gate to the mesh, which is outside the high fence and there sat down to eat with Gen. Needham.

McMath, who was taken to his home in Westfield, was seen at the receiving ship for breakfast.

McMath's face was very serious. He was taken to his home in Westfield, where he was seen at the receiving ship for breakfast.

McMath's face was very serious. He was taken to his home in Westfield, where he was seen at the receiving ship for breakfast.

McMath's face was very serious. He was taken to his home in Westfield, where he was seen at the receiving ship for breakfast.

McMath's face was very serious. He was taken to his home in Westfield, where he was seen at the receiving ship for breakfast.

McMath's face was very serious. He was taken to his home in Westfield, where he was seen at the receiving ship for breakfast.

McMath's face was very serious. He was taken to his home in Westfield, where he was seen at the receiving ship for breakfast.

McMath's face was very serious. He was taken to his home in Westfield, where he was seen at the receiving ship for breakfast.

McMath's face was very serious. He was taken to his home in Westfield, where he was seen at the receiving ship for breakfast.

McMath's face was very serious. He was taken to his home in Westfield, where he was seen at the receiving ship for breakfast.

McMath's face was very serious. He was taken to his home in Westfield, where he was seen at the receiving ship for breakfast.

McMath's face was very serious. He was taken to his home in Westfield, where he was seen at the receiving ship for breakfast.

McMath's face was very serious. He was taken to his home in Westfield, where he was seen at the receiving ship for breakfast.

Finding of Peggy Is Big American Scoop

The Boston Evening American "scooped the world" yesterday on the McMath kidnapping document—first printing the exclusive copyright story of what would happen, to Boston before it did happen, then alone among the evening newspapers printing the story of the child's recovery.

James J. Smith and Arthur J. Quinn, Boston Evening American staff reporters sent to Harvard on the story, turned the trick.

SERIES OF NEWS BEATS
Smith performed one of the feats of individuals who have "scooped" newspapers reporting in years to snatch the scoop not from under the nose of an army of other reporters, but from the nose of a single newspaper man congregated at the scene.

But that's getting in a head with him. It was recently that he reported state police irregularities in the Boston Evening American and forced the reorganization of the newspaper under a new head by Governor Ely.

Quinn contributed the judgment that kept the Boston Evening American "holding the press" up to the minute when the fact came.

Here's his story of the scoop: At midnight, Thursday, Smith got wind of a secret conference in the Green.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

COULD IDENTIFY KIDNAPER, SAYS SCHOOL AID

A man prominent in the alleged negotiations between the McMath family and the kidnappers of Peggy McMath is suspected of being the man who, disguised as a Negro drove the kidnaper car.

Miss Ruth Holmes, 19 secretary to Capt. Paul of the Harvard school, who was hoaxed by a false telephone call and who allowed Peggy to be dismissed from school on the hands of the kidnappers, made this statement in an exclusive interview to the Boston Evening American today.

"I have been terribly suspicious of a man who has figured prominently in this case, and whose name and picture have appeared in all the papers," Miss Holmes said. "From the story that John Shuchman, the boy who saw Peggy get into the kidnaper car, told me, and from the revelation that the driver of the car was a Negro, I was led to believe I have had strong suspicions about his identity."

Miss Holmes refused to name the man or describe him other than to say he was a Negro, tall and dark, and that she had seen him in her disguise, left little doubt in her mind.

Miss Holmes said she was the highest person in the world since Peggy's safe return, as she felt she was in a large measure responsible for the child's recovery.

"I hadn't slept for four nights," Miss Holmes said. "I suffered from mental agony, perhaps, the worst I have ever known. I felt that I was in a state of nervous collapse, and I had been unable to do anything for several days."

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Miss Holmes said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again. She said she had been enabled to do her duty, but she was not sure she could do it again.

Punish the Kidnapers!

The child is back. Our first concern was the safety of this innocent little girl. Now get the kidnappers. Run them down. Punish them.

The good name of public decency demands that this case be prosecuted.

If they were hardened criminals of underworld racketeering who kept this little girl bound and gagged in a shed for three days, they must pay the penalty for their defiance of law and their brutality.

If the kidnapping was "an inside job," the perpetrators of this cruelty to a child and a grieving mother, must be exposed in order that the public sentiment and good name of Massachusetts be not made a laughingstock.

The people of this State and of the Nation are kind and generous.

The women of this State got down on their knees and prayed to God for the recovery of this child.

The State of Massachusetts marshalled its police resources, at great expense, and left half the State unguarded, at the possible mercy of professional gangsters, and expended its energy and resources to restore this little girl to safety.

Neither the affection of the good people for a missing child nor the efforts of the State must be defiled or exploited.

Bring the perpetrators to justice. Expose them at the bar of public sentiment. The public expects this.

There's No Substitute for Music

STEINWAY
DUO-ARTS
STEINERT
JEWETT
MASON & HAMLIN
AMPICOS

New...Reconditioned...and Re-built
GRANDS and UPRIGHTS

STEINERT JEWETT
5-ft. Walnut
GRAND GRANDS at $495
Formerly $1350 NOW $775 $595 for a Special Model.

Special QUEEN ANNE
Model Grand. $525
AOLIAN. MADE.
Others at $395
Representing a 25% Markdown

UPRIGHTS DUO-ARTS
for your Summer home or camp—well-known makes, wide variety.
$35, $50, $65, $75

NEW STEINWAY GRANDS
AT THE LOWEST PRICE IN 14 YEARS
Every Instrument Guaranteed
Small Down Payments
Convenient Terms

OPEN EVENINGS DURING THIS SALE
Steinert & Sons
162 Boylston Street A New England Institution Since 1860 Boston
Also in Worcester.....Providence.....Springfield.....Fall River.....Portland

AMERICAN 'SCOOPED THE WORLD'

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN
The Boston Evening American "scooped the world" yesterday on the McMath kidnapping document—first printing the exclusive copyright story of what would happen, to Boston before it did happen, then alone among the evening newspapers printing the story of the child's recovery.

James J. Smith and Arthur J. Quinn, Boston Evening American staff reporters sent to Harvard on the story, turned the trick.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

McMath said he was told he was hired in the cabin of the liner, and must keep the newspaper from knowing it.

STEINWAY
Authentic Colonial Period Grand Piano—the hand-somest instrument we have ever offered, at a worth while saving.

UPRIGHTS DUO-ARTS
for your Summer home or camp—well-known makes, wide variety.
$35, $50, $65, $75

NEW STEINWAY GRANDS
AT THE LOWEST PRICE IN 14 YEARS
Every Instrument Guaranteed
Small Down Payments
Convenient Terms

OPEN EVENINGS DURING THIS SALE
Steinert & Sons
162 Boylston Street A New England Institution Since 1860 Boston
Also in Worcester.....Providence.....Springfield.....Fall River.....Portland

Bay State Banking Women in Convention Here

BANKING WOMEN

Banking women are in Boston attending eighth annual convention of the Massachusetts Association of Savings Bank Women at the Hotel Somerset. The smiling delegates are, left to right: Mrs. Lucine M. Ayers, Newburyport, and Miss Helen Mason, assistant manager of the Suffolk Savings Bank, Boston. The annual banquet was held last night.

BELL FOR SALE—REAL CHEAP

Want to buy a bell? A nice toy for the bungalow. Maybe you'd like to donate it to a church. You'd have to take it down yourself—for the 2600-pound bell is yet in tower of old city hall in West Newton. At any rate Newton wants to dicker it. Thumbs have been turned down on plan to remove bell to new city hall buildings.

GREATER BOSTON RIGHT NOW

WED 27 YEARS

During the week Gov. Joseph R. Ely of Massachusetts and Mrs. Ely celebrated their 27th wedding anniversary. They were married on May 1, 1906. You see the governor, busy at his desk. You also see a portrait of Mrs. Ely. This always graces the desk of the chief executive. The governor and his wife received many congratulations.

ALL PHOTOGRAPHS BY BOSTON AMERICAN

G. H. C. CONCERT THRILLS

Eileen Murphy, as the "Admiral," and Pearl Banks, as the "Old Maid," two of the leading roles in the production presented by students of the Girls' High School, last night. Proceeds from the performance will be used to increase music activities in the school. The school glee club furnished music. The affair was under direction of Joseph H. Gildea.

OUTGOING ORDERS

Arlington police department has added radio to a motorcycle in strides to perfect their police radio system. William E. Woodbury, chief operator at Station WPEd Arlington, sends messages over air to cruising cars and motorcycle. Fast work on detective work is result.

NEW RECEIVER

Motorcycle Officer A. J. Keaney of Arlington police, with his radio equipped cycle, probably the first in the state. He takes down messages broadcast by Woodbury.

Girl Scouts in Drum Corps and Bugle Contests

TAPS

Girl Scouts' busy day. Helen Hallas, 56 Paul st., Newton Centre, sergeant of Girl Scout Troop 13, competes in today's state bugle and drum competition of the Bay State troops of the Girl Scouts at the Arena. Helen was runner up for the highest honors in bugle contest last year. She hopes that she will be on the receiving end when the prizes are awarded. Fifteen bugle and drum corps will compete. Cups will be awarded for winners.

FOR BETTER BACKYARD GARDENS

Cambridge is boosting plans for better and better backyard gardens by the children over the Charles. Margaret Murphy, 385 Franklin st., and Noreen Power, 583 Franklin st., were first to get seeds from Stephen H. Mahoney, at recreation office in City Hall. Cambridge League of Women Voters are backing the better garden move.

IN TULIP TIME

Is there a more beautiful flower spot anywhere—than the Boston Public Gardens, when the tulips are in full bloom? The camera caught Loretta E. Malette of Malden, as she admired the beauty of the flowers. Do not miss seeing the beautiful tulip beds. It's a great treat. Every color of rainbow is represented in tulip beds there.

BUSY WEEK PREVENTING DIPHTHERIA IN CAMBRIDGE—SCHICK TEST USED

Making Cambridge babies safe against the germs of diphtheria, is one of the big jobs being conducted this week by the board of health of that city, aided by the Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Thousands of children have been taken to many school buildings, to be inoculated against diphtheria. At the Putnam School, in East Cambridge, this quartet of dandies were ready for the Schick test and clinic. They are, left to right: Salvatore Corriere, 86 Gore st.; Joseph Pevay, Jr., 257 Hurley st.; Barbara Yusikones, 62 Fifth st., and Richard Butler, 10 Fourth st. place.

GOLFERS READY FOR BUSY WEEK ON N. E. LINKS

NAVY CREW STAR OUT OF RACE WITH CORNELL

Annapolis, Md., May 6 (AP)—Bill Burt, a star player on the Navy team, has been dropped from the race with Cornell University. Burt, who was the leading scorer in the previous race, was injured in a fall during practice. The Navy team will now rely on other players to make up for his loss.

Schedule 3 Bouts for "Keed" Abroad

Yank May 6 (AP)—Key Club's fight with Seaman W. C. Keed will be the first of a series of bouts. The fights are scheduled for May 10, 12, and 14. The bouts are expected to draw a large crowd.

Maurer Wins

Twining, Mich., May 6 (AP)—Ernie Maurer, Detroit unbeaten boxer, won the decision over Johnny Edwards, Cleveland W. V. In a five round bout.

TAD'S FAVORITE INDOOR SPORTS

Key Club to Clash With Roman Nine

The Boston Key Club will clash with the Roman Nine in a baseball game. The game is scheduled for May 10 at 3 p.m. at the Key Club grounds.

Dover Pros Seek Baseball Action

The Dover Pros are seeking baseball action. They are looking for a game to play on May 10 at 3 p.m. at the Dover grounds.

PIE TRAYNOR IS SECOND AMONG N. L. BATTERS

Pie Traynor is second among National League batters. He has a batting average of .345. He is followed by Babe Ruth, who has a batting average of .340.

Diamond Tally

NATIONAL LEAGUE		AMERICAN LEAGUE
Team	Wins	Team	Wins
Braves	10	Red Sox	10
Giants	9	Yankees	9
Cubs	8	Phillies	8
Pirates	7	Indians	7
Cardinals	6	White Sox	6
Reds	5	Tigers	5
Robins	4	Twins	4
Senators	3	Angels	3
Mariners	2	Blue Jays	2
Marlins	1	Padres	1
Braves	0	Red Sox	0

2 W. G. A. TEAM MATCHES ON SCHEDULE

Two Western Golf Association team matches are on the schedule. The matches are scheduled for May 10 and 12. The teams are the Western team and the Eastern team.

Leading Hitters

Team	Player	BA
Braves	Pie Traynor	.345
Giants	Babe Ruth	.340
Cubs	Sam Rice	.335
Pirates	Doc Cramer	.330
Cardinals	Goose Goslin	.325
Reds	Sam Rice	.320
Robins	Doc Cramer	.315
Senators	Goose Goslin	.310
Mariners	Sam Rice	.305
Marlins	Doc Cramer	.300

Home Run Tally

Team	Player	HR
Braves	Pie Traynor	10
Giants	Babe Ruth	9
Cubs	Sam Rice	8
Pirates	Doc Cramer	7
Cardinals	Goose Goslin	6
Reds	Sam Rice	5
Robins	Doc Cramer	4
Senators	Goose Goslin	3
Mariners	Sam Rice	2
Marlins	Doc Cramer	1

POPEYE

Wimpy, the Great Fiddler, Wins Popeye's Praise

An Exclusive Feature Every Saturday In the BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

The Red Sox have been in the lead for some time. They have a record of 10 wins and 0 losses. The Yankees are in second place with a record of 9 wins and 1 loss. The Phillies are in third place with a record of 8 wins and 2 losses. The Indians are in fourth place with a record of 7 wins and 3 losses. The White Sox are in fifth place with a record of 6 wins and 4 losses. The Tigers are in sixth place with a record of 5 wins and 5 losses. The Twins are in seventh place with a record of 4 wins and 6 losses. The Angels are in eighth place with a record of 3 wins and 7 losses. The Blue Jays are in ninth place with a record of 2 wins and 8 losses. The Padres are in tenth place with a record of 1 win and 9 losses.

Diamond Dust

By JOE CASHMAN
Not a day has been so hot as today. At the Red Sox, neither has an error been made. Neither has a home run been hit. The Red Sox are in the lead for the first time in a long time. They have a record of 10 wins and 0 losses. The Yankees are in second place with a record of 9 wins and 1 loss. The Phillies are in third place with a record of 8 wins and 2 losses. The Indians are in fourth place with a record of 7 wins and 3 losses. The White Sox are in fifth place with a record of 6 wins and 4 losses. The Tigers are in sixth place with a record of 5 wins and 5 losses. The Twins are in seventh place with a record of 4 wins and 6 losses. The Angels are in eighth place with a record of 3 wins and 7 losses. The Blue Jays are in ninth place with a record of 2 wins and 8 losses. The Padres are in tenth place with a record of 1 win and 9 losses.

Another Popeye Knockout in Next Saturday's Boston Evening American—Don't Fail to Get It!

COOK-COOS

By TED COOK

(Copyright, 1933, by the Boston Evening American)

Norris Drafting Bill to Control Business.

And not a moment too soon. It's liable to rear its ugly head any moment, now.

A politician on the shelf flames everybody but himself.

Add similes—An hard of hearing as the Supreme Court, . . .

Q. and A. DEPARTMENT.

Dear Sympathetic Aunt Bella: How you ever followed the P. and O.

Ann—Nervous. Aunt Bella was known as the queen of burlesque and shared the spotlight with no one.

"As I understand it," remarks Genevieve, "the kitchen critic, 'Mr. Rooster's' idea is that securities offered to the public should be wrapped in cellophane."

OMIGOSHI!

HABE—Come home, mother worse. Everything O.K. You-Know-Who.

PUZZLE

(Interview—Mary Pickford.) "People have 'I am quite had enough of 'Alles in Wenden' plays and want something nearer their own thinking and living."

But surely you're not the man to object to a little constructive criticism, Herr Hitler?

SARAH, 1931—Who put a nickel in you?

Betty Fisher.

Daily Crossword Puzzle

By EUGENE SHEFFER

HORIZONTAL

- 1—Think of a boy
- 2—Preferred balls
- 3—Used on wheel
- 4—A good result
- 5—A good letter
- 6—A good person
- 7—A good thing
- 8—A good place
- 9—A good time
- 10—A good way
- 11—A good word
- 12—A good deed
- 13—A good name
- 14—A good look
- 15—A good sound
- 16—A good taste
- 17—A good smell
- 18—A good touch
- 19—A good feel
- 20—A good think
- 21—A good say
- 22—A good do
- 23—A good go
- 24—A good come
- 25—A good be
- 26—A good have
- 27—A good can
- 28—A good will
- 29—A good shall
- 30—A good may
- 31—A good must
- 32—A good ought
- 33—A good could
- 34—A good would
- 35—A good might
- 36—A good should
- 37—A good would
- 38—A good might
- 39—A good should
- 40—A good would
- 41—A good might
- 42—A good should
- 43—A good would
- 44—A good might
- 45—A good should
- 46—A good would
- 47—A good might
- 48—A good should
- 49—A good would
- 50—A good might

VERTICAL

- 1—A good word
- 2—A good deed
- 3—A good name
- 4—A good look
- 5—A good sound
- 6—A good taste
- 7—A good smell
- 8—A good touch
- 9—A good feel
- 10—A good think
- 11—A good say
- 12—A good do
- 13—A good go
- 14—A good come
- 15—A good be
- 16—A good have
- 17—A good can
- 18—A good will
- 19—A good shall
- 20—A good may
- 21—A good must
- 22—A good ought
- 23—A good could
- 24—A good would
- 25—A good might
- 26—A good should
- 27—A good would
- 28—A good might
- 29—A good should
- 30—A good would
- 31—A good might
- 32—A good should
- 33—A good would
- 34—A good might
- 35—A good should
- 36—A good would
- 37—A good might
- 38—A good should
- 39—A good would
- 40—A good might
- 41—A good should
- 42—A good would
- 43—A good might
- 44—A good should
- 45—A good would
- 46—A good might
- 47—A good should
- 48—A good would
- 49—A good might
- 50—A good should

THIMBLE THEATRE, starring POPEYE

BRINGING UP FATHER

(FOLLOW JIGGS AND MAGGIE IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER)

Jiggs Takes an Antidote

POLLY AND HER PALS

(FOLLOW POLLY AND HER PALS IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER)

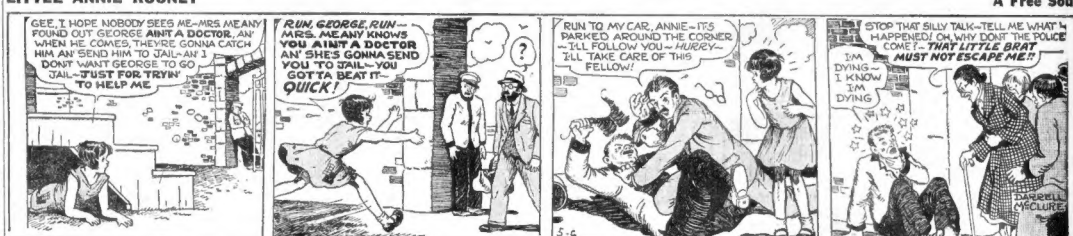

A Chip Off the Old Block

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

(FOLLOW LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER)

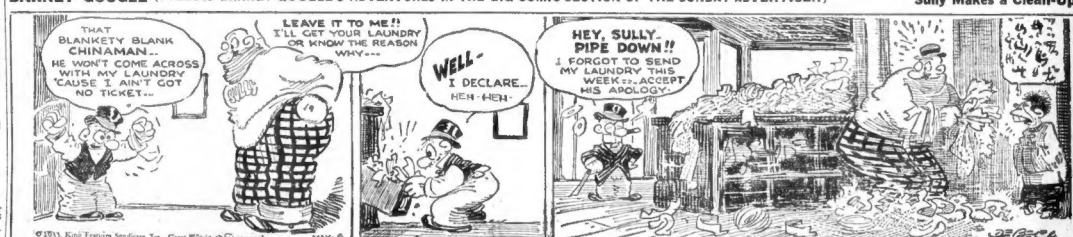

A Free Soul

BARNEY GOOGLE

(FOLLOW BARNEY GOOGLE'S ADVENTURES IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER)

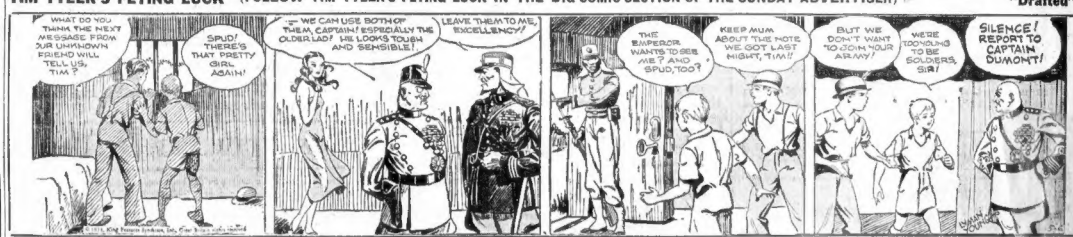

Sully Makes a Clean-Up

TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK

(FOLLOW TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER)

"Drafted"

KRAZY KAT

(FOLLOW KRAZY KAT IN THE BIG COMIC SECTION OF THE SUNDAY ADVERTISER)

A Man You Can't Fool

WRIGLEY'S GUM

KEEPS YOUR TASTE FRESH

INEXPENSIVE SATISFYING

You really haven't tried to find what you've lost—

Until you put a "Lost and Found" ad in the Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser and put their huge combined circulation of 705,831 to work helping you search. In addition, this announcer will broadcast your loss daily over WLOE, "the first station on the dial." 1500 K—200 M.

Read for Profit—Use for Results

SATURDAY, MAY 6, 1933

We Pay, Others Benefit

N. E. Wants Share of Government Funds

The national government at Washington, in its efforts to defeat the depression and to restore prosperity, has gone in for a program of paternalistic legislation, the extent of which was never before approached in peace time.

We have seen billions of dollars poured out, in cash or in credit.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has distributed vast sums to the banks, the railroads, the insurance companies and to certain industries.

The Farm Loan Banks were given increased latitude to loan on farm mortgages, largely in the West.

The Home Loan Banks were created to disburse their largesse on mortgaged houses.

The Public Works Administration expended in excess of a billion dollars.

We are to see a new industrial empire developed along the Colorado River, similar to the one that will be created in the Colorado Valley by the marvellous development at Boulder Canyon Dam.

An army of youth is being sent into the forests for reforestation.

The sum of $500,000,000 is to be distributed among the States for public welfare relief.

We, the people of Massachusetts and of New England, pay for all these projects.

We pay into the national treasury, out of which these projects are financed, the heaviest donation in this country in proportion to our population.

But you would think we were outcasts in so far as receiving the direct benefits from these ventures which our tax contributions make possible.

If we have been ignored, as we have been ignored, it is utterly our own fault.

It is our belief that Governor Ely, in the interest of Massachusetts and New England, ought to appoint a group of State officials or public-spirited and experienced citizens to examine all the laws that have been passed for these numerous programs and to ascertain how they can be employed to the advantage of ourselves.

Unless this is done promptly we will wake up to find that the supplies at Washington have been exhausted and that the only reminder of them will be in our annual tax bills.

Thanks to Our Readers

Praise for a Great Scoop

The Boston Evening American herewith acknowledges the generous plaudits which have been showered upon this newspaper and its news staff for the extraordinary achievements in the very interesting and very curious kidnapping of Margaret "Peggy" McMath.

This newspaper, in its first editions, prior to 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and as a climax to a series of exclusive news stories, published the exclusive dispatches from its own correspondents at Harwichport which said positively and unequivocally—

"Margaret 'Peggy' McMath, 10-year-old kidnapped victim, will be returned within 24 hours.

"The kidnapping was an inside job.

"A person well known to the McMath family was the brains of the plot."

Every statement therein published and every detail which supported these statements was thereafter supported by the actual developments of the day.

The newspaper fraternity of the United States understands the diligence and the industry which were required through long hours of intensive investigation to acquire this unusual newspaper exclusive story and we are grateful to the many newspapers and wire services of this country which have sent complimentary messages to this office.

The Boston Evening American offers public commendation to its reporters, Mr. James J. Smith and Mr. Arthur Quinn, and to the others who worked on the story, whose talents and whose patient search for the facts made this exclusive publication possible.

The Boston Evening American offers its public commendation to its editors, its printers, its pressmen and the other active, devoted and enthusiastic workers who made it possible for the Boston Evening American to be the only newspaper which published the news of this girl's recovery on the day of its happenings.

Of course, we thank our readers.

They have been generous with their praise, as is their custom.

You patronize a retail store because its goods are attractive. You engage an architect to design your home and a carpenter to build it because they are efficient.

You patronize a newspaper to supply you with the news of the world because it is alert, because it is aggressive, because it is FIRST.

By Edgar A. Guest

Black Sheep

Sometimes into the finest group there slips

The plunderer and the cheat

Who, with a sullen look upon his lips,

Mocks good men he may meet.

And those who sell their high employments bear

Are sick with hurt and shame.

That one who has no thought for them must share

Their calling and their fame.

High-minded men forever here must face

With shame's hot burning cheek

The deeds of those who find with them a place—

The traitors and the weak.

To every family come the ones who fail—

The strange, black sheep—

And only God knows why they are so frail

And how their fellows weep!

(Copyright, 1933, Edgar A. Guest)

LISTEN, WORLD!—On Magazine Page Today.

Behind the Witness Chair

Behind the witness chair are the threatening shadows of the racketeer and his brutal minions.

The Judge may not see them. The jury may not see them. But the State's witness, called to testify against the racketeer, knows they are there—and fear prevents his testimony or turns it into perjury.

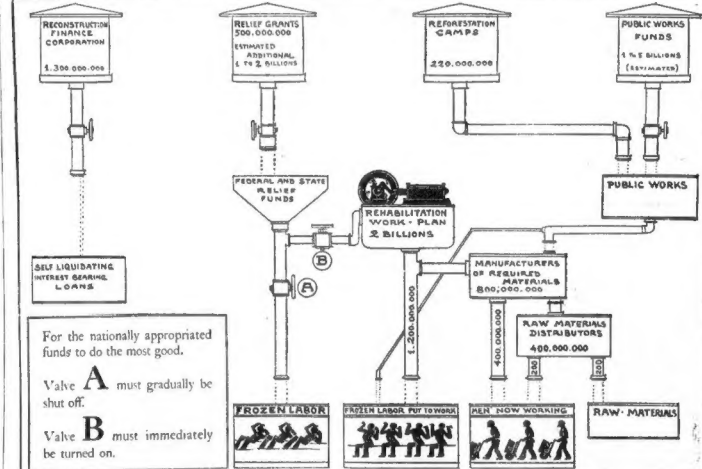

The law can put an end to this form of terrorism. The Judge, the Prosecutor and the police have power and authority—let them be used without stint.

Moreover, the learned attorneys for the defense, by their very oaths, have a duty to the Court to prevent perjury and help procure fair trials.

And the Bar Associations can do something toward this end. They should look into the legal phases of racketeering.

Prosperity Projects

For the nationally appropriated funds to do the most good.

Value A must gradually be shut off.

Value B must immediately be turned on.

In the State of Pennsylvania alone—the February report of the Public Charities Association showed—400,000 families are receiving unemployment relief requiring approximately $120,000,000 a year. This expenditure exceeds the ability of the taxpayers to pay.

The problem is nationwide. What must be done about it? Edgar J. Kaufman, a leading citizen of Pittsburgh, has studied the conditions thoroughly, and has formulated a PLAN.

Himself an able merchant and thoughtful economist, his plan embodies contributions from other experienced business executives, from employment experts, sociologists, lawyers, economists and public officials.

The diagram above depicts the workings of Mr. Kaufman's plan as he visualizes it in operation.

Study the chart, and read Mr. Kaufman's article on this page—"WORK VERSUS RELIEF."

O. O. McIntyre

New York Day by Day

A Return Joke

NEW YORK, May 6.—Dave Hampton is a literary agent now and gives tea to Harold Bell Wright and sundry show-guns when they come to town.

But when I first knew him he was a young buckaroo around his father's magazine office. One of those inquisitive "nuts" that made your right palm itch.

Harris, Merion Lyon and I used to go to see him to the corner drug-store for a nickel.

O. O. McIntyre worth of strap oil or to the neighborhood office to borrow their wall-paper stretcher. Like the neighbor, he never forgot.

Recently he read that I suppressed a desire to become a tympantist.

So by special messenger he sent a pair of snare-drum-sticks. They are smoothly lacquered, fragile and before me is the slick expanse of a glass top desk! What I could do with it! Bother number! But I'll forget that. With things as they are, it's no time to frivel.

I suppose it's second childhood to be sitting trying to work and all the time stifling an urge to rickat with drum sticks. Yet most of my tragic life has been devoted to urge stifling. No sooner does an urge get its head above water than I hit it with an ear. Just yesterday, with all I had to do, I stopped seven different times to play the drum.

The day before that I stifled myself three but the best of stiflers is liable to have an off day.

Well, I must be thinking up pearls to scatter. The big thing about this job of columnizing is to keep the reader interested. One of those sticks is longer than the other. No, the same size, but the way they were laying it looked so

As I was saying, keep the reader interested—let him feel you are his pal. A reader like that would never throw your drum sticks out a window.

Take, for instance, one of these sticks. This one I just picked up. What did it ever do to anyone but give them a match of happiness? A little rhythm to the monotony of life. Look—see—tattle-de-at-tattle!

Wait until I get the other and show you on the side of this meta-mash-basher. How's that and I never had a lesson in my life. I never got to do things like other boys.

The radiator is even better for tympanning. I'll just start off in a simple march step. Like this—tap, tap-tap-tap! Then I'll swing to a waltz. Getting better every minute, too. See, I'm standing on one foot. Aw, aw, listen to this picket-fence effect when I take the stick across the radiator. What's have a Horton?

That macaw down stairs is tapping on the pipes. I suppose it annoys him—him and his waxes mustache. If it's such a mustache why does he wax it? Anyway, this lamp stand bar is just as good for my purpose. It has a nice nuance, if you know what I mean. You see, I'm talking fast fancy, fast expressing our art. Now, I'll skip over to this little pretty-pretty on the mantel. This fragile little vase I mean. Lightly—it broke.

Lots of husbands could have a drum of their own. I'll bet there are even some who could have a drum room. But I have to sneak around tapping anything I can find sticking out. And hide my drum sticks. They ought to be glad I never had a lesson in my life. I'll have to tip-toe around and shut myself in closets while I swallow them. Bu-burp! There goes a hiccup now and I'll be disturbing everybody and everything.

(Copyright, 1933, by the Boston Evening American)

O. O. McIntyre's article is a fantasy every week of the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Work Versus Relief

By EDGAR J. KAUFMAN

Noted Businessman, Philanthropist and Economist of Pittsburgh, Pa.

THIS plan is submitted to the President of the United States, and to Congress, as a measure to stimulate employment.

It is proposed to use governmental appropriations that may be created, and the funds of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, for the employment of labor in work projects and to receive as security obligations as hereinafter set forth.

The plan is national in scope. The Pennsylvania State Emergency Relief problem is used to illustrate its operation.

It is estimated that of the 50,000,000 workers normally employed in the United States, 15,000,000 are now unemployed. This is 30 per cent. In parts of Pennsylvania this figure is larger. At present in Pennsylvania 400,000 families are on relief, representing approximately 2,000,000 souls.

More are anticipated. There is no longer any shame or stigma in going on relief.

It is estimated that about $120,000,000 a year will be needed in the State of Pennsylvania to supply these families with the necessities of life. Able-bodied men, willing to work, are permitted to remain idle and receive relief. This is frozen labor.

And further, we must face the solemn fact that there is not enough tax-paying ability in the country to continue to carry on the burden of relief, as it now is and as it must grow to be, as more and more people exhaust their savings and their resources.

The only concrete escape from increasing unemployment and increasing taxation is in setting the wheels of industry in motion by a Work Program.

THE problem has been dealt with by attempting to create vocational occupation by public and semi-public work for the frozen labor. Unfortunately, this effort has been unsuccessful, due to the lack of funds. It was found expedient to use available money for relief, rather than for work and materials.

Consequently, there was brought about a moratorium for improvement and repair work on private and corporate property of all descriptions, due to the freezing of capital and credit. Therefore, it is solely a problem of developing a program of work, credit and finance.

It is recommended to divert gradually the steady flow of federal and state funds from relief, to be applied in payment for work to be performed and materials to be used by the existing frozen labor, to rehabilitate private property in the state and the country. Property has now reached the point where further disintegration will be more costly than rehabilitation.

Under this plan, the government makes it possible for the taxpayer to create employment and thereby render those on relief self-supporting. The taxpayer, by availing himself of the opportunity to offer employment, reduces his taxes and recoups his property.

UNDER this Work Program, individuals and corporations may utilize the resources of governmental appropriations that may be set up, and funds of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, for loans against financially sound contracts.

At the state and federal employment offices, or other agencies, established where needed, a Contracting Bureau, consisting of an Order and Estimating Department, a Credit Department, and a Legal Department will be set in operation.

The Order and Estimating Department of the Contracting Bureau will receive the application for desired private or corporate rehabilitation work.

The type of work contemplated may range over a wide field affecting dwellings, factories, machinery and equipment, farm buildings, farm equipment, slum eradication, sewer disposal, roads, traffic grade crossings and reforestation.

It may also include the financing of work incidental to the colonization of self-contained units of not less than five hundred families (two thousand souls).

The Credit Department will determine the credit standing of the applicant by a formula that must be developed, determining the credit allowable in each case, the same to bear relation to the property improved and the existing encumbrances.

It must be paramount that this Work Plan should not compete in any way with local labor, industry or banking.

The Legal Department is to arrange a contract between the government agency and the applicant.

The contract will provide the government with a ten-year obligation on the improved or rehabilitated property which loan may be amortized monthly, yearly or at the end of the ten-year period.

The Employment Bureau will register the vocation of those applying for work.

It should be the goal of the federal and state employment office to supply all applicants with sufficient employment to assure them the reasonable necessities of life and wherever possible, place them on the farms, in the plants and in commerce, where they had been before employed.

Estimators and other office employees handling funds must be bonded, and legislation should be passed protecting the government by a penalty of fine or imprisonment or both against fraud or embezzlement.

THE government is urged to recognize fully its position and obligation to its unemployed, those on relief and those as yet not on relief—to its now genuinely suffering workmen, to its large and small manufacturers, to its large and small retailers, to its real property owners and to its already overburdened taxpayers.

The work dollar is a more potent and better dollar than the relief dollar.

This Plan, if adopted on a national scale, will stimulate construction, the heavy industries, equipment manufacturing, automotive, transportation, and render frozen labor self-supporting.

Both the unemployed and the taxpayer look to Washington for constructive measures that will render their lot tolerable. The only cure for unemployment is employment.

The government, through a construction program, financially sound, can set frozen labor to work, rehabilitate disintegrating property, and protect its over-burdened taxpayers. We cannot let two million people starve.

We cannot run the risk of their further demoralization. We cannot suffer more taxation.

We can only await action in Washington with unwavering faith.

Daily Bible Text "Be strong and of good courage. Be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed, for the Lord thy God is with thee."—Joshua 1, 9.

Next text by the Rev. R. W. George, Elmit St. M. E. Church, Boston.